

I feel that since I pay a monthly fee to get XM radio, I do not feel that my elected government should involve themselves in an area that they do not belong. It is bad enough that with the recent review of broadcasting decency, the government has managed to ruin am/fm radio and network television, that is in fact what made me subscribe to XM radio. Once again I say, the government has no business sticking thier nose into a place that it doesn't belong.